

GAVIN WOOLLEY

GENERAL MANAGER, VIC

Gavin recently emigrated from the UK and joined the Slattery team in Victoria as Truck and Machinery Manager. Gavin's full time career began in the UK in 1997 as a Herd Manager for a 400 Dairy Cow Unit based on a 1000 acre unit.

After spending 10 years within the agricultural sector, the decline within the dairy industry coupled with a foot and mouth outbreak, he made the decision to change industry. After joining Laing O'Rourke / Select Plant Hire in 2006 within their logistics division as a Driver and Crane Operator, he developed a number of skills ranging from Health and Safety (IOSH), Driver Trainer to finally becoming Transport Manager (OCCRS) for three facilities throughout Staffordshire and Cheshire along with developing a company safe systems of work which has since been published following his emigration to Australia.

What makes great client service?

"The business is always looking to improve the service that it delivers to its clients. Providing key information at the earliest opportunity plays a major part in client decision making".

What sets Slattery's apart?

"The business prides itself on being dynamic, forward thinking and the "go to" partner. The industry knowledge that the business can offer to clients is immense, communication plays a key part to this success, not just to clients but to all of its staff as well".

What is your favourite pastime?

"Spending time with our young family at weekends, getting to the beach and visiting new attractions within Victoria, we seem to be spoilt for choice!".

What are one of the aspects you love most about auctions?

"Building relationships with customers prior to auction day. Trust plays a significant role with clients' decision making, providing additional consignment information upon request and then assisting with facilitating their purchase at auction".
