What sets Slattery's apart?

"What sets Slattery's apart is our team environment where all staff, across all areas of expertise work together toward the same common goal of ensuring the best possible outcome for our clients. Sometimes this requires us to be flexible, innovative and think outside of the box".

What makes good client service?

"I think building strong relationships with clients and regular buyers is essential in our business. The personal experience our clients receive when not only buying but selling. We maintain an honest straight forward approach with our clients, where transparency and in turn accountability is paramount; this, partnered with our extensive industry knowledge enables us to build long lasting trusted relationships with our clients".

What are one of the aspects you love most about auctions?

"The atmosphere of auction day is like no other. The hustle to get everything organised the week leading up to sale day, then seeing all the hard work pay off is a great experience."

What is your favourite pastime?

"I'm a self-confessed sports fanatic and enjoy nothing more than a good footy game and a few drinks with mates".
